Is Huawei preparing foldable phones for H1 2026?

Ahead of these phone launches, Huawei seems to be working on three new foldable devices for H1 2026. As noted by Weibo tipster @GuoJing, Huawei is preparing three significant foldable iterations for the first half of next year (H1 2026). Surprisingly, the list only includes small vertical folding phones: Pura X, Pocket, and the Nova Flip model.

Will Apple release a foldable iPhone in 2026?

The long-awaited foldable iPhone -- rumored to be called the iPhone Fold -- could be here soon. Tech enthusiasts and early adopters already love foldable phones -- and they have plenty of options -- but Apple's been notably absent from the genre. But that's reportedly due to change in 2026, when Apple is expected to release the iPhone Fold.

How many foldable screens will Apple make in 2026?

Reports suggest that Samsung Display (SDC) has been asked to dedicate a production capacity of 7-8 million foldable panels per year to Apple. While this figure may suggest a large-scale rollout, Kuo clarifies that actual screen shipments in 2026 will be lower due to a limited production window that year.

Will screen shipments be lower in 2026?

While this figure may suggest a large-scale rollout, Kuo clarifies that actual screen shipments in 2026 will be lower due to a limited production window that year. Recent rumors suggest that Apple has placed an order for 15-20 million foldable iPhones.
